Note, On the 23d day of this month, the sun entered Libra, at the same time the planets, Mercury, Mars, Jupiter, & the Georgian planet or Herschel were in Libra; Venus & Saturn were both in the 24th degree of Virgo but six degrees distants from the Sun. Thus all the planets were nearly in conjunction with the Sun, at the same period the sun roped the line. Many years must elapse before a similar ommence can take place again. Whether this phenomenon has, or will have, any effect on the weather, I cannot yet say. We have had a long season of dry weather & cloudless skies.

Began to house my cattle, horses & sheep.

16 Wind SW W - fair - cloudy - warm for the season - little frost in the night.

The corn stalks in my barn grew so warm that I could not bear my hand in them. I immediately had them turned out & removed - for I was even alarmed lest their very great heat should generate fire & consume my barn & buildings. In three or four hours after the air came to them, they were quite damp.

November 1808.

Note, ~~at Epping at 9~~ On the 15th of Jany last at Springfield in M.s the thermometer standing at 0 & 2 degrees above, with the wind very high at N. NW the river furnished an appearance of a heavey fog rising rapidly down it. On an appearance so extra= extraordinary examination was made, & it was found that the wind took the small particles of water & carried them up into the atmosphere, & was immediately conged into fine snow, & arose some as much as 40 feet above the surface of the water. It commencement was about meridian, but most conspicuous at 2 P.M. Several very aged people living in the vicinity, do not remember ever seeing the like.

The same was observed over the river in Epping the same day.

On the 23d day of January the river Delaware was covered with ice & hundreds of people were amusing themselves with skates. In the space of 24 hours that river which had not a particle of ice in it was completely frozen from side to side.

The 30th day of Jany the harbour of Boston was completely closed with ice.

The morning of the fall of rain was very great the wind was at NE & strong, between 9 & 10 became unusually violent & suddenly. The wind veered to the South east & blew a very strong & rained fast. The damage done by the wind was very great, sheds & barns & great numbers were blown down — apple trees in great numbers were blown down — & vast quan = tities of wood & timber were prostrated to the earth, principal = ly turnicles up by the roots. My own wood suffered es = timated loss of more than $200.

I was out in the highest gales, & tho the wind was strong the air was soft & invigorating & with the grandeur of the scene enobliated my spirits.

Sunday 24. W. 50. 62. 52 Fair.

The wind of yesterday blew off almost all the apples &c. peaches. The Indian corn was almost all blown down in the ground broke & greatly injured. Board fences prostrated with the earth. More than 150 of my trees were blown down.

Began to cut my stalks. Let them stand till this time on a ground afford.

The destruction by the wind of the 23d was great & extensive the loss of property in Epping I am confident exceeds 20 or $30000. One part of a great one is the loss of a great portion of Maple trees from which sugar was made. Thereby fell & blown were destroyed. From the country we hear many edible were lost.

Thursday 4 SW 22, 51, 41 Fair.

Note, The lightning on monday struck a tree about ~~half a~~ a mile south of me, shivered an oak about a mile to the north, & struck my barn at the west end shivered one of the posts, tore off one of the ribbands, split 2 or 3 joist inside the barn in different places one of which was near to my head who was in the stable but did not injure him, a piece of one of the board adjoining a mow of hay was rent off but the hay not singed - in a dozen places pieces on the board set some distance from each other as with a gouge one man of different board on different parts of the barn. It appears that the body of electrical matter burst in the air, & that only part of it struck the barn. The cloud was thin & passed away rapidly, & the thunder was more rattling than heavy - there had been considerable rain before this explosion. That part of the barn that was struck was about 8 or ten rod from the electrical rod that stands at the end of my house.

Friday 30th NW. 47. 75. 52 Fair. From Hanover to Concord.

In passing by the pond in Canterbury this morning, the fog from but a small fogg rose on the pond it darted up in small spears or columns - & I observed same fleecy & same stationary on the water a vast variety of fantastic figures of various sizes & forms closely resembling the Aurora Borealis, & of a light color. Are not the Aurora Borealis occasioned by this event - do they not arise & most in the atmosphere from clouds & vapors that are there collected & condensed. The ideas merits investigation.

Found the Indian corn from Hanover to Concord much that stood on pine land entirely killed by the late frosts & the stalks & leaves dry. The corn on potatoe tops, beans & pumpkin vines. The prospect of the latter has = vest is small - but grain of every kind abundant. Apples few not great till I reached Salisbury were there. Many about 2 third in quantity & 3 4ths in quality of a common crop. People busy in gathering it in.

Note a gentleman from Vermont sometime since informed me that sleeping on night on a high mountain, the moon shining clear he observed a cloud below him - from that cloud arose the Aurora Borealis.

Saturday 31 SW. 56. 66. 54 Cloudy rain a little. from Concord to Epping

The corn, potatoes beans &c killed on pine land - near the rivers where fogs arise not materially injured.

Saturday 7. S. 50. 74. 52 Fair. Atmosphere smoky.
In drawing up stumps in the swamp my men pulled up a pine stump of about 20 inches diameter - it stood on another pine stump the tops of which were just below the level of the surface of the earth - it was more than 3 feet diameter its root were large & extensive - its top was so much rotten, altho its roots were perfectly sound, that I could not discover whether it had been cut down by an axe the grain it being so level I have no doubt it was. This last tree must have been very aged, & the ground have been raised by the rotting of leaves, limbs of trees & the washing in of earth from the higher land, as I found stumps of wood 2 feet below the surface.

Sunday 17. SW. 30, 60, 57 Cloudy.

Monday 18. SW high 56, 67, 58 Fair

Finished husking my corn. Soon after the great frost I had the best part of it cut up near the ground with all the stalks (it not being then topped) & bound in bundles & shocked up. I committed an error in having the bundles too large. I let it stand stand out too long having no convenient place to put it under cover. It however did better than the other part which I left standing. There was an unusual portion of red corn & that was much riper than the yellow. The crop was small- much of it was so green, sound & black that hogs would not eat it. I gave it to my cattle. I had not more than a 3d of a crop.

At 8 Minutes before 7 O'Clock A.M. there was a sudden shock of an earthquake, its report was loud resembling thunder - its course was from West to east - its seat appeared north of us. The atmosphere was cloudless, & little air to be felt - what wind was from the S.W. I was shaving myself, but in an instant was out in the open air to observe the cause of the sound. Some think this was an air & not an earthquake. See p. 401

In the morning the wind was SW. cloudy little rain but then veered to NW.

In the evening small lightning in the South at a distance.

Friday 7. N. W. 52, 69, 57 Fair.

I ought to have noted some days since that the insect called bugs have appeared in my orchard in vast numbers. This is the first time I ever witnessed their appearance in this town.

To day I finished the ingathering of my hay & oats.

The hay was more than usually good both in quantity &

& quality; & the weather for getting it has been peculiarly favorable.

My Oats, tho' sowed on rich land, were of little or no value. The straw was small & the grain so blighted as not to be worth thrashing. The grain in quantity & weight was less than the seed sowed.

My wheat was entirely destroyed, by an enemy that I have never before seen in this town. The Hessian fly— from a bushel sowing none was left for the sickle or flail.

The season has abounded with strawberries, rasp= =berries, mulberries, whortleberries; but no stone fruit, such as cherries, peaches & have existed.

Thursday 9 NW high 66, 74, 68 Fair

Wind varied slightly from NW to N.

I have frequently observed that when the wind changes from S.W. to N.W. at this period of the year the weather will continue warm, & so when it changes from NW to S.W. it remains cool. In both cases the air that is first brought over the water from which the wind had previously blown. This is a fortunate circumstance - it prevents much of the ill effects of sudden changes - is favorable to health & the products of the earth.

The moon & 7 stars passed each other.

Finished my Indian harvest. The crops of corn this year were not equal to the last - in some towns not more than two thirds - Mine fell short one half. It rose not owing to ploughing or cultivation to the land, or to the season. The corn reaped nothing of for the want of rain, or of heat the want of heat or by frost; but from rust. The rust killed some stalks the but few - the ears were short & filled out at the upper end. 1/2

Friday 19. NE. 32, 39, 32 Cloudy. Snow 2 inches in Finished my haying- taking all my meaning land. Cut about seven eights as much as last year. my two fields at the East end of my farm, which are in a good state of cultivation & well manured was about equal to what they were the last year, but my field at the west end of the farm, which I have had in profession for a few years only, being much bound out was much less. From the best information I have been able to gain I think the mow of hay in Epping this year will be about seven eights of what it was the last year- perhaps a little more. High land that was bound out has failed much low land in good heart has borne a good crop.

Finished my Indian corn harvesting. I had between 50 & 60 bushels of sound corn from one acre. The crop of corn in general has been very good- it ripened remarkably well & early in the season. On some ground the ears were not well filled- and at the small end. My second best land which is naturally good corn land failed this year of yielding a good crop of corn & equally so of hay. Some reasons produce richness in one town & health in another; this similarity exists as to corn; the cause I am unable to develope.

I had picked them as they were ripe & fell. & picked all my trees (for I have now several cart loads in my orchard) I might have made four times as much- but there being no market for cyder it would not repay the labor.
Apples have rotted beyond the example of any former year I recollect. many of my best winter apples not =ted on the trees- & now they are in my cellar they not artificially fast. This circumstance induces to think the cyder of this year will not be good- that it will soon become hard & sour. I gave my barrel of winter apples but they not very fast. 3 days 1/2 day
